Hey there! I'm a Singapore based Web Designer and Developer residing in the peaceful North-Eastern corner of the country.

I am a committed and enthusiastic team player who constantly seeks to challenge myself by exploring new areas and embracing what's outside of my comfort zone.

I'm also meticulous by nature and have a strong drive to see things through to completion and of a high standard.

My passion lies in designing and developing websites and I aim to shift towards a text-less design without compromising UX one day.
